AN ADVANCE IN WHEAT. 8414 There Was a Good Export Demand, Local Shorts Covered and Outsiders

Were Buyers.

At the opening of the market wheat was strong and advanced from 1 to 1% cents during the next succeeding trading, May selling up to 72%c., June to 72%c, and July during the next succeeding trading, to 72%c. The strength was due to a good 1154 export demand, higher prices reported out some seiling for profits, which caused a slight reaction, but it was short-lived, and just hefore midday the market moved up steadily. The feeling in the later trading was feverish, and traders tried to sell the market down, but failed, and the closing was at nearly the top prices of the day.

Dispatches from Chicago said that the market there showed that the local crowd had changed front and were buying wheat. The report that 500,000 bushels had been sold in Minneapolis, for export, was not confirmed, but its influence upon the market remained at the advance heid. The trading was active, the market giving excellent opportunities for money-making, as the fluctuations were broad and quick. The situations were broad and quick. The situation was summarized in one dispatch, which
